

READER NOTE:

This document revision shows ALL changes made to the document as information in the sidebar on the far right of the document page. You'll notice format changes are included as well. For some people, the formatting data may make the information appear cluttered. Please focus your attention on two types of notations in the sidebar – Comments and Deletions. Both types of notations give you information regarding what language has been changed.

Comments reflect that new information/language has been added to the document. When you review the body of the document you'll notice type that is underlined; that information is the new language revisions.

Deletions reflect language shown in the current charter which has now been deleted. (On the latest revision some type in the body of the document may appear as ~~struckout type~~. That language has also been deleted).

Throughout the document you'll notice bracketed numbers (ex: [42]) at the end of the comments. Please refer to the Summary of Changes/Comments at the back of the document. You'll notice the page number, the comment number, and what occurred to the document – formatting, deletions, and additions/insertions.

This copy of the document will be available for the Charter Revision Commission Public Hearing scheduled for May 18, 2009.