III. Added agenda items?

There were no additional agenda items discussed.

IV. Discussion of 2.27.24 public participation/Committee to Commission status/budget presentation updates/email from Keith Debbie thanked committee members for our passionate support of the committee. Sarah Muska asked about the meeting and committee members reported their thoughts on February's meeting, reporting that Keith Yagaloff, EW Selectman, attended as a resident, spoke in public participation for about 25 minutes. Kristin gave her perspective on her experience attending her first meeting as an official member in February. We agreed that we know who we are as a committee and will not be deterred by one person's opinion. We agreed as Russell made a motion to keep us as a committee and Bernie seconded and it was unanimous; we agreed as a committee to stay as a committee.

Debbie did a budget presentation on February 28 and presented an overview of what we've done. Debbie prepared for this presentation a collage of projects. Debbie reported that the Board of Selectmen were complimentary.

V. On-going projects

a. Birdhouses decorating project-Home Depot, out of stock/waitlist

Debbie reported that both Home Depot and Lowes still don't have the original birdhouses and it appears that there is not a date for when more will come in. Kristin told us that Paul Anderson here in the center of town might be helpful in constructing these birdhouses. Debbie was prepared to try Tractor Supply or store. Kristin spoke with someone from Home Depot, and they are not able to get them in stock. During the meeting, Sarah checked with Charlie Nordell and he confirmed he is willing to prepare birdhouses for $10 per birdhouse.

b. Performance artist event (open mic) at Trolley Museum 4.27.24

We now have two performance artists; we are looking to get a few more folks before the April date. Debbie will ask Jason Bowsza to get it on his town phone announcement. We have one six-year-old singer and one baritone ukulele player.

c. EWSH Graduation Boards

Debbie and Rusty found some pallets; we don't have enough yet.

d. BBES Rock River

All the rocks are cleaned and buffed and scrubbed. There are 87 kids in this class. Last year we bought paint pens. Debbie donated two rocks for the rock river separation.

e. Arts and Culture Day 2024 - 5.18.24

We can set up as early as 9am.

i. Budget

We have $3,500 to spend on Arts and Culture Day.

iv. Bottle cap project-new numbers, ideas

14,256 bottle caps in total! The project is TBD

xi. DEEP project

VI. New/Future Projects

a. Decommissioned bus shelter/meeting with Jason

Shelter is bolted to the ground currently. You must be a municipality and have someone from public works need to claim it when it comes up for public auction. Debbie filled out the form to claim it and she will put a bid on it. It will cost a flat $50. We are hoping that it will not go to public auction as items will be at the highest bidder in that way. We have a place to store it. The artist will begin when he comes back from Puerto Rico.

b. Mural at WHP Library

Despite the fact that Debbie had met with previous administrations and Matt Conway and Debbie met with the librarian to talk about a partnership to paint a mural at the library, Alex Ranniello is doing the dinosaur mural. Debbie expressed disappointment that Alex contacted the library directly, instead of through Arts and Culture or Matt Conway, and agreed to do the mural.
